

Hamilton Lane | Global Private Assets Fund

Monthly Report as of 30 September 2020

The Hamilton Lane Global Private Assets Fund I-USD share class returned +4.10% net in USD for the month of September, whilst the public markets, as measured by the MSCI World Index, were down 3.45% over the same period. This month's return brings year-to-date net performance of the I-USD share class to +8.28% and annualized net return since inception in May 2019 to +12.95%.

We saw an increase in valuation to a number of investments including an equity investment alongside Polaris Capital Group in Sogo Medical, a chain of dispensing pharmacies in Japan. This investment has performed strongly since investing in March earlier this year. The Fund's equity investment, Hims, a California-based men's wellness company, is entering the public markets via a reverse merger with Oaktree Acquisition Corp., a listed vehicle managed by Oaktree Capital Management. The value of The Fund's holding increased 38% over the month to reflect the anticipated transaction price.

The Fund also closed into a proprietary secondary transaction Project Foster, at an approximate 25% discount to net asset value. This provides exposure to a diverse portfolio of five funds and two co-investments, primarily in North America. As we have highlighted previously, our allocation to secondary investments and our ability to close into transactions at a discount to NAV has been beneficial to the diversification of the portfolio as well as providing an immediate uplift in performance.

In terms of realization activity, one investment was fully exited during the month. In August of 2019, the Fund invested in the debt of Nuvei, a Canadian based electronic payment processing company, alongside Novacap Management. After a 14 month hold period, the debt investment was refinanced and exited at a 1.12x net multiple and 16% net IRR.

Investment activity was significant in September with eleven new investments made into a variety of credit, equity, and secondary opportunities. This is a result of the pick-up in deal flow and investment activity since the lull in March and April following the onset of COVID.

Certain of the performance results included herein do not reflect the deduction of any applicable advisory or management fees, since it is not possible to allocate such fees accurately in a vintage year presentation or in a composite measured at different points in time. A client's rate of return will be reduced by any applicable advisory or management fees, carried interest and any expenses incurred. Hamilton Lane's fees are described in Part 2 of our Form ADV, a copy of which is available upon request.

The following hypothetical example illustrates the effect of fees on earned returns for both separate accounts and fund-of-funds investment vehicles. The example is solely for illustration purposes and is not intended as a guarantee or prediction of the actual returns that would be earned by similar investment vehicles having comparable features. The example is as follows: The hypothetical separate account or fund-of-funds consisted of $100 million in commitments with a fee structure of 1.0% on committed capital during the first four years of the term of the investment and then declining by 10% per year thereafter for the 12-year life of the account. The commitments were made during the first three years in relatively equal increments and the assumption of returns was based on cash flow assumptions derived from a historical database of actual private equity cash flows. Hamilton Lane modeled the impact of fees on four different return streams over a 12-year time period. In these examples, the effect of the fees reduced returns by approximately 2%. This does not include performance fees, since the performance of the account would determine the effect such fees would have on returns. Expenses also vary based on the particular investment vehicle and, therefore, were not included in this hypothetical example. Both performance fees and expenses would further decrease the return.
